Modified Housing Bill Voted

Senate Votes Down Subsidies

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate passed and sent to the House today a compromise housing bill aimed at speeding small home building.

The measure contains no low-rent or slum clearance subsidies.

Approval came on a voice vote after the chamber had voted 48 to 36 to substitute the measure for the Taft - Ellender - Wagner housing bill.

The Senate thus overrode its banking committee which had approved the T-E-W measure.

The T-E-W bill would have provided for government aid in building public-owned low rent and slum clearance projects.

The housing action came after the Senate banking committee voted two major changes in the Republican anti-inflation bill as passed by the House yesterday.

The committee struck out a House provision calling for a boost in federal reserve bank gold reserves, which Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and federal reserve officials said would do nothing to stop inflation.

It also raised the reserve requirements of banks which are members of the federal reserve system.

The House had approved reserve increases of 1 and 3 per cent respectively on time and demand deposits. The Senate committee raised the figures to 2 and 5 per cent. President Truman had asked for ten and four per cent.

The committee also approved the reimposition of restrictions on installment buying which the House had voted. It changed the effective date however, from next March 15 to June 30.

Collie Finds Lost Boy, 3

Unclad Child Nearly Frozen

ZANESVILLE —(INS)— In true movie fashion, a tan and white collie dog led a grief-stricken Philo father to his naked and nearly frozen three-year-old son today.

The child, Jerry Lee Huffman, had been missing from home since 6 p. m. yesterday.

While a posse of 250 combed the rugged countryside in the early dawn, the pet dog, "Laddie," led his master, Daniel Huffman, to a cornfield on an adjoining farm.

There, Huffman found Jerry Lee, one foot caught in a wire fence and a wild grapevine holding him almost immovable.

The little boy who left all his clothes behind when he wandered off yesterday evening still was alive, but was so cold he could not even blink his eyes

Eight Superforts Start to England

TUCSON, Ariz. —(AP)— Davis-Monthan Air Force base today dispatched eight B-29 superforts on a 6,000-mile flight to Lakeneath, England.

The 2nd Bomb Group squadron took off at 4:32 a. m. (EST). Each plane carried about 18 men, base operations reported.

Bulletin

COLUMBUS —(AP)—The field of undefeated teams in the American Legion baseball tournament was cut down today to one—Cincinnati—which trimmed Mansfield 11 to 2 in a morning game. It was Mansfield's first setback in the tournament. Mansfield was to play again at 2:30 p. m. today. Lancaster and Youngstown also won their morning rounds.

SURRENDERS TO FBI — Indicted on charges of conspiring to overthrow the government by violence, Gus Hall, Ohio Communist party chairman, surrenders to the FBI in Cleveland. Hunted since July 20, day of the federal grand jury indictment in New York, he is accused with 11 other top communists.

Air 'Gift' Shows Hit

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Like a stern but not too hopeful parent, the Federal Communications commission shook a warning finger today at the get-rick-quick radio programs popping out all over the dial.

The station-licensing agency said disapprovingly that "an almost infinite number" of these border on "illegal lotteries or gift enterprises."

So the commission announced a set of proposed new regulations aimed at curbing, if not eliminating, many of the programs currently offering fabulous cash, travel and merchandise gifts to lucky listeners

In essence, the rules say there must be no more such give-aways based in any way "upon lot or chance." Nor can the winners be required to (a) furnish any money or other thing of value, (b) possess the sponsor's product or, (c) be or have been listening — or viewing— the program in question.

The commission didn't say when the new clampdown will become effective, but it said it will listen to interested parties up to Sept. 10.

Privately, commission sources said the agency fears that the prize programs are throwing the national raido picture "out of focus," and leading the industry away from "the broad basic purposes of broadcasting."

These sources said there have been complaints from some top flight comedians and other entertainers that their gags or art are being lost to listeners hoping for complete housing, a house painting job or a free trip to Bermuda for two, all expenses paid.

Still privately, the commission left no doubt that it regards the task of getting the give-away programs off the air as no easy undertaking.

Widow Gives Up Mansion

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.—(INS)—Tired of roughing it in a millionaire's mansion, Doris Furst, 23-year-old Texas widow, gave up her eight-day maternity sitdown in the home of Joseph Bancroft today.

However, she declared that she would never rest until Bancroft is forced to support her unborn child which she claims he fathered.

Mrs. Furst quit the Bancroft home on the advice of her attorney, who feared for her health since heat, lights and phone service had been cut off by the millionaire manufacturer in his efforts to dislodge her.

Kremlin Discusses Blockade

Three Envoys Meet Molotov

(Compiled from Wire Services)

MOSCOW—Envoys of the United States, Britain and France held a meeting today with Foreign Minister Molotov.

U. S. Arbassador Walter Bedell Smith entered the Kremlin first Frank Roberts, special British envoy, and French Ambassador Yves Chataigneau followed him immediately. At the conclusion of the conference they withheld comment concerning their effort to find a basis for ending the Berlin blockade and resolving other east-west differences.

Stalin was not believed present at this meeting, which the western diplomats had sought with the foreign minister.

(Diplomats in London said they expect a Big Four communique be issued this weekend, announcing plans for a new meeting of the foreign ministers' council. The council is the four-power agency whose last two meetings broke up in disagreement.

FREEZE EASED

Meanwhile, Russia retreated in the battle of Berlin currencies today, offering to unfreeze some of the western zones' blocked funds after American sources threatened to bring in western marks to meet the emergency.

The unfreezing order, effective today, permitted the Berlin city assembly to withdraw 25,000,000 eastern marks to meet immediate payrolls for 210,000 civil employes.

Charles Gifford, British deputy finance chief, said additional withdrawals will be authorized early next week to meet other city obligations of 100,000,000 marks.

The city administration has 350,000,000 marks on deposit in Soviet-controlled banks which city officials were unable to draw on because of the Russian financial blockade.

Hope Fades For Airliner

NEW YORK—(INS)—A mass of charred debris in the mid-Atlantic eliminated virtually all hope for safety today for a missing French airliner with 52 persons aboard.

Radio reports from the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Campbell said the sea was covered with wreckage presumably from the giant six-motored Latecoere which disappeared Sunday on a flight from Martinique to French West Africa.

The cutter, which had been searching an area around 1,200 miles from Dakar, said it found a number of leather upholstered seats floating on the surface some 70 miles off the plane's course.

The seats were still intact, but other items aboard the plane, including a table top and locker door, were no more than charred plywood.

Officers of the cutter said the wreckage indicated the plane was destroyed by fire and explosion.

The Campbell is continuing to comb the area on the chance of finding possible survivors.

Curtain of Secrecy Drawn on Spy Hunt

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senators investigating communist spy ring charges today suspended public hearings because they said the Truman administration refuses to give them necessary facts.

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) of the Senate investigating subcommittee announced the decision. He made public also a refusal by Attorney General Tom Clark to supply official FBI records on William W. Remington.

Meantime, the House un-American Activities committee went underground for a secret meeting with a mystery witness in its own similar investigation.

A subcommittee was sent out of town to interview this witness at an undisclosed place. Rep. Mundt (R-SD), acting chairman of the full committee, said this man's testimony, together with other testimony already gathered, "will prove the existence of a communist spy ring which reached high into the government during the war."

Clark's refusal to turn over the FBI records on Remington was in line with an order from President Truman who denounced the congressional hearings yesterday as a "red herring" intended to divert public attention from what he calls the refusal of the Republican-controlled Congress to enact adequate anti-inflation legislation.

IDENTIFIED BY WOMAN

Remington, 30-year-old suspended commerce department official, was identified by Elizabeth T. Bentley as one of several government workers she says passed wartime information to her for a communist espionage ring.

Miss Bentley testified she was a courier, traveling between New York and Washington, for the ring.

Although public hearings are being suspended, Ferguson said the Senate group will continue to dig for facts on Remington and the entire government loyalty program at closed hearings and "by any legal means."

The House subcommittee went to unusual efforts to keep its activities from being known.

A heavy curtain of secrecy, almost akin to wartime censorship, was drawn around movements of the subcommittee. The names and number of members were a deep secret for some reason that nobody would explain.

The subcommittee was supposed to leave last night, arrive at its destination by noon today, start questioning the mystery man this afternoon, and get back to Washington by Monday.

The special hearing group was set up late yesterday when an investigator hurried into a locked-door committee meeting with word that another key witness had been uncovered.

Mundt said that as a result the spy ring case ought to be cracked "wide open" in public hearing next week. Hearings for the rest of this week were ruled out.

New Buyer Strikes Develop

Livestock Drops But Meat Prices Stay Up

(By Associated Press)

Livestock and wholesale meat prices appeared to be heading downward today as new buyers' strikes developed in many cities, but the price tags on meat in butcher shops remained unchanged.

All livestock prices fell yesterday at midwest markets. Hogs and cattle dropped as much as 75 cents a hundredweight.

But steaks and chops still sold for about a dollar a pound when the housewife shopped at the corner store.

At Los Angeles, rib beef sold for 87 cents a pound, T-bone steak for $1.10 and pork chops for 95c. Prices had held at those levels for the past week even though customers were turning thumbs down on those cuts in favor of fish and cheaper grades of meat.

Prices also were holding at about the same level in New York where consumer resistance has grown steadily although no organized price strike has developed.

In many other cities, however, housewives were setting up organized drives to lick the meat price problem.

At Moorhead, Minn., where housewives were preparing a meat strike, only two women expressed disapproval. One said that her menfolk worked hard and needed the meat. The other said she needed it for her children.

The Massachusetts Consumers guild, with 2,000 members, launched a "buy no meat for two weeks" drive. The guild president, Mrs. Mary Higgins of Boston, warned that "the high cost of meat will continue unless housewives stop buying at these prices."

Guards Will Quit Univis

DAYTON —(UP)—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert announced today that National Guard troops would be withdrawn from the Univis Lens company strike area late this afternoon.

The governor issued the following statement:

"According to my information, 320 production workers were in the plant on Tuesday, 376 on Wednesday, 410 on Thursday, and 425 today out of a maximum 640 formerly employed. In addition there have been approximately 100 office workers each day.

"Now that peace has been restored and all parties to the dispute have had the opportunity to regain their sober senses, I am directing the adjutant general to remove the National Guard from Dayton.

"This action has been taken on the recommendation of Gen. Goble and Col. Schiele, the troop commander. Mayor Lohrey is also in accord.

New Hole Replaces Hole Somebody Stole

Charles Dennis is going to have a new post hole to replace the one he said somebody stole.

Dennis's neighbor, Roy Perry, is going to dig it for him.

The whole hole affair started Wednesday when Dennis dug a hole near his home, 29 Crystal Springs road, and set a post in it. He planned to put his mailbox on the post, but first he took the mailbox home to paint it.

When he returned Thursday morning, he told the sheriff's office yesterday, his pole was out of the hole and a new pole had been placed there to support neighbor Perry's mailbox.

Dennis was not pleased. You will remember that Wednesday was before the rain and the ground in which he had dug his hole was about like granite.

Sheriff's deputies visited the scene and inspected the standing pole and mailbox, the post hole, and the post that was lying on the ground. They also visited Perry.

Perry, who lives at 200 Crystal Springs road, said he had not removed Dennis's post from the hole but he offered to dig a new hole.

So it was agreed that the old post which Dennis said was taken from the new post hole will be put in the newer post hole which Perry will dig and Perry's post will remain in the new post hole which now becomes the old post hole.

Remove Hinges On Door

Escapers Loot Cars at Empire

Four of six Mansfield reformatory trusties who fled a dormitory at the institution farm early today were captured a few hours later by Mansfield police in the northern section of the city.

Authorities pushed a search today for the other two fugitives. Four other inmates who have fled the reformatory farm in less than two weeks also are still at large.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke of the reformatory said the six men who escaped today fled after removing the hinges from a fire escape door in the dormitory which is outside the walls. Glattke said the men were reported missing about 1:30 a. m.

Charles Carter, 25, one of the escapers, was apprehended by police about 3:50 a. m., when he was found in a car near the Empile Steel plant on Bowman street, officers said. The car is owned by Alfred Rolston, Crestline.

A few minutes later, two other fugitives, Robert Dazell, 37, and Oliver Mountz, 18, were captured in a field nearby. The offered no resistance.

FOURTH ENTERS PLANT

A fourth, Woodrow Neal, 26, was taken into custody about 6 a. m., at the Perfection Bed Spring plant where a night watchman reported him warming himself in the plant.

Police said the three men captured near the Empire plant had ransacked several autos parked nearby. A flashlight owned by Raymond Phelps, Mansfield, R. D. 1, and two white shirts and a pair of sun glasses owned by Robert Partin, of Bellville, were found in possession of the escapers.

Members of the group of today's escapers who were still at large are Charles Musselman, 28, and William Kelly, 23.

Musselman was received from Summit county April 2, 1947, to serve from one to 15 years for burglary and larceny. Kelly, sentenced from Lucas county, was received Oct 26, 1945, to serve one to 25 years for unarmed robbery.

Dazell was received on Jan. 7, 1937 from Seneca county to serve from 10 to 25 years for robbery. Carter, from Bellmont county, Feb. 5, 1942, one-to-15-year term for burglary, and Mountz, a juvenile delinquent from Cuyahoga county, was received on June 20, 1947 to serve one year to age for auto theft

Neal, sentenced in Montgomery county for armed robbery, was received April 2, 1947 to serve from 10 to 25 years

Glattke said the four inmates who were captured will stand "trial" in the reformatory's court. The customary penalty for escape is two more years in the institution.

Still at large after previous escapes are James Campbell, 26, and Russell Kansorka, 24, who fled the OSR farm July 24, and Timothy Sams, 24, and Jack Kidder, 21, who walked away from the poultry farm last Wednesday.

Planes Crash; Eleven Killed

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. —(INS)— Naval and civilian authorities combed today through the wreckage of a navy transport and a Stearman training plane that crashed in midair near Hollywood, Fla., killing 11 persons.

All of the dead were believed to be naval personnel Their bodies were badly mangled and burned when the huge transport, a twin-engine DC-3 type, crashed and burst into flames after colliding with a two-seater converted PT-17 Stearman late yesterday.

The two occupants of the civilian plane, Tommy Poe, a flying instructor, and Jack Hackett, his 21-year-old student and pilot of the craft, bailed out and landed unhurt.

Crowd Jams Court; Accused Acts Jittery

A plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity" was entered today in common pleas court on behalf of Robert Murl Daniels, accused of the slayings of John E. Niebel, reformatory farm superintendent, his wife, and daughter.

His trial was set for Aug. 30 at 9 a. m.

The plea was made by Attorney Lydon H. Beam, appointed as defense counsel for Daniels by the court.

Daniels appeared in the crowded courtroom in a brown double-breasted suit with a checker pattern. He wore a white shirt and a red tie with white zig-zagging stripes.

Acting jittery, he kept folding and unfolding his manacled hands.

Daniels was the first called to enter his plea. Eleven others, also indicted by the grand jury Monday, entered pleas later.

Daniels, told to stand, answered affirmatively to questions asked by the court regarding whether he had received a copy of the indictment, whether he had read it, and if he understood the nature of the charges.

Busy Officer Takes a Rest

SPRINGFIELD, Mass —(INS)— Many motorists in Springfield were cheering today They had just heard the good news. . . . Patrolman Christopher J. Aspall was about to take his annual vacation.

Aspall tagged 30,000 cars for parking violations last year and this year's business has been good also. He explained:

"I am now 2,000 ahead of my mark at this time last year."

The patrolman plans to rest up and be back in a couple of weeks "working harder than ever."

Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch then ordered Assignment Clerk C. A. McKinley to read the indictment aloud.

When he had finished, Judge Kalbfleisch asked Attorney Beam if he had had ample time to go over the indictment with Daniels.

Beam told the court that they had ample time and entered the plea, "not guilty by reason of insanity."

The court asked Daniels: "You've heard the statement of your counsel?"

Daniels replied, "Yes sir."

'NOT INSANE NOW'

Beam handed the court a paper containing the plea in writing.

Judge Kalbfleisch, after reading the plea aloud, asked Daniels: "Is this your wish and desire?"

Daniels said that it was.

Judge Kalbfleisch asked Beam: "You are in effect more accurately saying that you contend he was insane at the time of commission of the crime and that he presently is not insane?"

Beam said that was correct.

Judge Kalbfleisch then asked Beam: "Are you satisfied that this man is of such mental capacity that he fully comprehends the nature of the crime and that he can assist you in every way in preparing his defense?"

KNOWS IT'S SERIOUS

Beam said: "As far as I am able to observe that is a true statement He has the mental capacity to know the seriousness of the offense."

Judge Kalbfleisch then asked Prosecutor Theodore Lutz if he had detected anything that might show Daniels was of unsound mind.

Lutz replied that "it has been the intention of the state to discuss the mental state of this man

Religious Discrimination Claim By Truman Lacking In Good Taste

NEW YORK—It was, in President Truman's own cultured, political expression, "rotten" of him to wave the bloody shirt of religious hatred in charging that the 80th Congress had been guilty of religious discrimination in the present displaced persons act.

The Eightieth Congress represented the people of the United States. This law was a further act of self-sacrifice, hospitality and great national compassion. Perhaps it was not truly expressive of the popular will because, for all we know, the people, in a referendum, would close the doors absolutely.

I call attention to the fact that politicians, wailing in fear of minorities holding the balance of power, have always prevented the referral of such questions to the people.

When did you ever vote on help for some warring foreign country or on help to some persecuted foreign minority?

You vote on an issue of hot lunches or a playground.

President Truman may share the error of others who think there is some constitutional provision which compels us to admit without discrimination the members of all religious communions and all races.

On religion our constitution says only that Congress shall make no law "respecting the establishment of religion," whatever that means, or "prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

The most that the first part of that clause can mean is that Congress can't set up any faith as the official religion of the U. S. A. But if some cult tried to practice cannibalism or mayhem as a religious rite we would quickly interfere with the free exercise thereof. We would refuse absolutely to admit members of any such cult as immigrants and that exclusion would be based on religious grounds alone.

Our exclusion of "Asiatics" for many years was based on religious objections among others. Our white Californians couldn't compete with them, because they could outwork the white man on one-fifth of the food. They were outrunning us, so we scraped together all the reasons we could think of for excluding them, and made the exclusion stick.

We had a case of a native American son of Japanese parents during the recent war which has a strange bearing on a large element of very impudent and brash communists concentrated in the City of New York and scattered in large lumps in other cities of the east.

Fred Korematsu, a Nisei, or native American Jap, was a citizen of absolutely unquestioned loyalty. But we rounded up all the Japs on the west coast and slammed them into concentration camps and Korematsu got his back up and resisted.

He was convicted of disobedience to the curfew and deportation orders of General DeWitt, who was in command of the area, and the case went to the supreme court.

Somehow, the boys ruled that it was all right to do this to Korematsu and somehow they reasoned that his racial descent had nothing to do with the case.

Wagner In Line For Labor Post; Rita Hayworth Due Back Sept. 7

ANOTHER PIPELINE—Stalin isn't the only smartie with a pipeline to the White House. The national syndicate, comprising America's principal gilt-edged gangsters, who for years have been spreading their millions into legitimate enterprises and running them with the hired brains of experts plus the uncanny shrewdness of successful thieves, are now projecting a world-wide system of resorts and hotels, to be tied up with railroads, steamship lines and airlines. The plan is to buy and/or build about 300 first-class hostelries in Europe, South America, Africa — wherever the governments seem safe and steady. Act to Form Child Study Organization

Officer Candidates To Be Selected

Steps were taken last night to set up an organization to study a survey now being made of child welfare facilities and needs in Richland county and carry out recommendations to be made in the survey report.

Meeting at the YMCA last night, 75 representatives of city and county welfare agencies and interested citizens authorized formation of nominating committee to select candidates for officers of a permanent child welfare study group.

Named to the nominating committee by Maurice W. Taylor, temporary chairman of the group, were Robert Remy, chairman; Roger Gray and Howard Wenning.

The committee will present nominees to the group at the next meeting Aug. 12, at 7:30 p. m. at the YMCA.

SURVEY UNDER WAY

Two representatives of the state welfare department are now conducting a survey of the Richland county children's home facilities and other child care agencies in the county, at the request of the county commissioners.

Conducting the survey, which is expected to be completed in September, are Mrs. Virginia S. Ferguson, state assistant supervisor in the field service division of social administration and Miss Mary Jane Paumier, consultant in the children's services division of social administration.

"We hope to analyze and appraise these facilities against the previous child welfare standards," Mrs. Ferguson explained. "We will consider what the county needs and how the county can obtain what it needs."

"Included in the survey will be studies of educational opportunities, religious opportunities for training and physical facilities for children."

Support of the public in carrying out the recommendations of the survey groups will be sought by the organization started last night.

Mansfielder Visits Family In Europe

Finds Hungarians Are Sick of War

By DWYER CLAY

Americans who believe they are faced with hardships, high prices, and persecution should read the story told by Eugene Klein, 645 Arlington avenue.

Klein recently returned from a two-week visit with relatives who survived the Nazi terror in Budapest, Hungary.

"The Hungarians have had enough war and do not want to see another one. They have seen too much of destruction and horror," Klein said.

"Every American should go to his church, Protestant, Jewish or Catholic, and give thanks that he lives in this country."

Klein flew to Budapest from New York in 24 hours flying time, covering a distance of about 5,000 miles.

"The world is a small place when you fly," Klein said. "I'm glad I went on the trip but I'm glad to be back in America."

He visited his mother, one brother and two sisters in Budapest and members of his wife's family.

3 IN FAMILY KILLED

Klein's brother-in-law was taken from his home by the Hungarian Nazis to be placed in a labor battalion and worked to death. His wife's brother and a brother-in-law also were killed by the Nazis during the war.

"The rest of the family escaped death only by a miracle," Klein said, "and during the war I didn't receive any word from them."

"Budapest is a scene of destruction where more than 30,000 civilians were killed in a month's siege when the Russians and Germans fought in the city.

"Originally there were 750,000 to 800,000 Jews in Hungary. Only about 180,000 survived after the Nazi occupation.

"Families were scattered, fathers and mothers were taken to forced labor and concentration camps and children were left to starve and in many cases entire families were killed.

"The people are attempting to rebuild their cities that were almost completely destroyed.

"In Hungary you can buy everything but the people haven't the money to buy it. A skilled worker receives a monthly salary of about $70 a month and an unskilled worker earns about $35 a month.

BREAD RATIONED

"Bread is the only rationed item in the country. A person is allowed three and one-half pounds per week with the rationing controlled by the government. The country's government is influenced by Russia.

"Prices in Hungary today include butter at $1.10 a pound, cigarets, $1 per pack, and an average pair of shoes at $14. Restaurant dinners range from 50c to $4.00. A salary of $180 a month would be equivalent to a well paid executive's salary in America. Those who have money have everything that it can buy, but most of the people haven't any.

Cool Days Here Again

Mansfielders had a preview of autumn weather today as the mercury refused to budge above 67 at noon.

The city was also the coolest spot in the state early today when the official reading was a chilly 45 degrees at 5:30 a. m. Elsewhere low temperatures ranged between 46 and 52 degrees.

But the weatherman had some cheerful news. Saturday will be fair and warmer with the mercury continuing an upward climb through Sunday with no rain in sight before late on the Sabbath day.

The stage for cooler weather was set yesterday when northerly winds held maximum temperatures to 75 degrees or lower over the state. Land of the Lakes, Wis., reported a near-freezing 35 degrees this morning.

The weather bureau's five-day outlook for Ohio follows:

"Temperatures will average near or slightly below normal for the period. Warmer Saturday and Sunday; cooler Monday; warmer again Wednesday. Showers late Sunday or Monday, with total rainfall about one-quarter to one-half inch."

Two Boards Meet Jointly

Health Officials OK New Plan

The Mansfield board of health at a meeting yesterday voted to inaugurate a plan of joint city-county health board meetings.

The plan had been approved by the county board at a meeting July 31.

Dr. Harry Wain, new city-county health commissioner, said the change to joint meetings had been made so board members could more easily keep abreast of health conditions in the entire area.

"Many problems of health are common to the city and the county," Dr. Wain said. "We think this plan will help us better to solve these problems."

Meanwhile, Dr. Wain, searching the city for a place to live since his arrival in Mansfield early in July, announced he had purchased a home at 69 Raleigh avenue.

His family will remain in Dayton until the house is ready for occupancy Sept. 1.

Mrs. Roemer was released on $500 bond for her appearance.

Also cited was Harold E. Foote 27 North Benton street, arrested yesterday for speeding on Park avenue east.

Boosters Map Drive For 8,000 Members

Preparations were completed last night for a zone-by-zone canvass of Mansfield in the forthcoming membership campaign of the Tyger Booster club, civic group which is seeking to organize support of at least 8,000 Mansfielders to back the public schools' program of sports, good citizenship activities, cultural projects and other extra-curricular educational work.

Last night the chairmen and co-chairmen of 41 zone committees met in the Chamber of Commerce rooms and took out 3,000 tickets for $1-or-more memberships to be sold in the general city Tyger club membership canvass.

Wednesday night, at a meeting of industrial division workers, approximately 5,000 tickets were distributed for use of Tyger membership teams in industries.

Purpose of the double organization is to contact all Mansfielders at their places of employment, the zone canvassers goal being to seek memberships among those persons who would not be solicited at industrial jobs.

The zone chairmen and co-chairmen are to name their own committees, building up a canvassing force of nearly 200 for the zone-by-zone job. This group, coupled with approximately 1,000 persons scheduled to conduct the industrial drive, will bring approximately 1,200 persons actively into the drive.

SECOND DRIVE

The $1-or-more membership campaign has been designated by the Tyger club as "Bandwagon No. 2" of the Tyger club drive, following the successful "ride" of "Bandwagon No. 1" which was the campaign of a special gifts committee that raised more than $5,000 in gifts from industries, businesses and individuals. This committee also is still doing clean-up work on its campaign.

The general Tyger membership drive is scheduled to open Aug. 16 and close Aug. 26.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(INS)—A move to transfer the United Nations headquarters from Lake Success collapsed today with the passage by Congress of a loan for construction of a permanent home in Manhattan.

The House passed the $65,000,000 authorization loan, 164 to 27. The Senate approved it prior to the special session.

Delegates and U.N. officials meanwhile indicated that an outcry on the assembly floor is likely over failure of Congress to ratify the bill granting immunities and diplomatic privileges to Lake Success headquarters.

Complaints have been brewing against current Washington charges that spies and subversive elements infest the headquarters of the 58-nation body.

There is no indication that delegates from either east or west are mollified by the loan sufficiently to forego their plans for the voicing of these grievances on the assembly floor.

CIO Invites Governor To Skip Picnic

WARREN—(AP)—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert won't speak at a CIO United Electrical Workers' picnic here tomorrow—at the union's request.

Herbert on July 31 wrote Grover W. Smith, chairman of the Trumball county council of the UEW, that he was "very glad" to accept an invitation to talk at the picnic.

Since then, however, the governor called out National Guardsmen in the union's Local 768 dispute with the Univis Lens company at Dayton.

Yesterday the governor received this telegram from Smith:

"Due to changes beyond my control I wish to cancel your engagement to speak at the United Electrical Workers' picnic in Warren Saturday."

Smith told newsmen the council cancelled the governor's appearance "because of the governor's involvement in the Univis Lens company strike at Dayton."

County Wallace Committee Raps Police Action In Strike

The Richland County Wallace-for-President committee, meeting last night in CIO hall, "strongly condemned" police interference in the Univis Lens company strike at Dayton.

The statement was released by Jesse Beer, chairman of the committee and guidance director of the Mansfield Public schools. The Wallace Progressive party has on several occasions been linked with the Communist party.

The committee, through Beer, also stated that "the Taft-Hartley law increases industrial strife and should be repealed."

"The Wallace committee of Richland county joins with the Progressive party of Ohio in supporting the strikers in Dayton and calls on its members for aid and support of these workers," Beer's release stated.

"The fight against the labor smashing provisions of the Taft-Hartley act which this union faces is the fight of all progressives," it said.

Driving Legion Team Knocks Off Another Foe

Need Only 3 More Wins To Cop First State Title

COLUMBUS—Mansfield's rampaging American Legion Juniors moved into the homestretch of the state baseball tournament after sweeping past another supposedly-tough foe yesterday afternoon. Mansfield coasted all the way as it walloped Lancaster, 7-3, on the OSU diamond here.

Manager Dewey Durant's Legion Juniors were to meet the favorite Cincinnati team this morning in what may likely be the best game of the tournament. All observers agreed that if they could administer the same treatment to Cincinnati as they have to their past 19 foes, the Mansfielders were "in."

ANOTHER SET

Another set of games were to be played this afternoon with the finals scheduled for tomorrow.

Yesterday's games had been all postponed yesterday morning but sunny weather dried the field quicker than expected and one round was played late in the afternoon.

Cincinnati walloped Lima by a 15-0 score in its game yesterday to retain the only undefeated club besides Mansfield. Youngstown beat Cuyahoga Falls, 1-0 in the other game.

WASTED LITTLE TIME

The Mansfielders wasted little time in getting ahead in their game.

Charley Marchant singled to center in the first inning. Mike Gruber got on by a two-base error and Sparkie Watts drove both him and Marchant home with a single to center.

The locals added another in the fourth on a single by Watts, a sacrifice by Joe Distl and single by Elsass.

PUT ON ICE

They put the game on ice with four more tallies in the fifth, Watts getting his third hit to help the parade along. Marchant, Riblet, Distl and Ken McCally also got one-basers during the frame.

Lancaster was unable to touch Louie Gregorio until the sixth when they got one run on a hit batsman, an infield out and a single.

They added their other two in the eighth when Thimmen walked, Kelly singled, Snider doubled and Miller followed with another hit.

Three AL Teams Have Hurling Corps Set

By LES CONKLIN

NEW YORK —(INS)— The four-club American league race still was tighter than a mail order suit after a thunderstorm today but some kind of a definite pattern began to emerge from the crazy quilt.

Cleveland's Indians and the New York Yankees now seem to have stabilized their pitching staffs to rank with the steady-going mound corps of the Athletics. The Boston Red Sox still have to rely on sheer batting power to carry their faltering hurlers.

Today the fourth-place Red Sox are only half a game or 10 percentage points points behind the pace-setting Indians. The A's, in second place, are but two percentage points behind Cleveland and an itsy-bitsy fraction of a point ahead of the Yankees.

The Mad Macks and the Bosox may gain ground starting tonight in their tilts with the two tail-end clubs, St. Louis and Chicago, respectively. The Indians and Yanks will be cutting each other's throats at Cleveland.

The Yankees who already have Vic Raschi, Ed Lopat, Frank Shea and Allie Reynolds at top form, are bringing Bob Porterfield, the best pitcher in the minors, up from their Newark farm in time for this series.

The Indians have Bob Lemon, Gene Bearden, Sad Sam Zoldak and Satchmo Paige in top shape after weeks of floundering, and even Bob Feller may come to life to avenge the ribbing the Yanks have been handing him.

Yesterday Bearden blanked Washington 3 to 0. The Indians made only three hits off Rae Scarborough and Tom Ferrick but all were homers. Bearden hit one and his battery mate, Jim Hegan, got two.

The A's also made the most of their hits in beating the Chicago White Sox twice, 3 to 0 and 7 to 4. They got only four blows in the opener but won thanks to Joe Coleman's six-hitter.

They scored seven runs on six hits in the nightcap but had to stage a three-run rally, featured by Sam Chapman's two-run homer in the ninth to win.

Reynolds of the Yankees won a 2-to-1 duel from Fred Hutchinson of the Tigers. He was aided by Joe Paige, the rejuvenated relief king who saved him in the ninth.

Once again the game between the Red Sox and the Browns was not decided until the last towel was lifted, but this time the Sox won it, 8 to 7, on a hit by Vern Stephens.

A Brooklyn player hit three homers for the first time in 22 years when Gene Hermanski turned the trick against the Cubs. This feat gave Carl Erskine, Brooklyn's rookie pitcher from Ft. Worth, a 6-to-4 triumph in his first major league start, although he previously had won two in relief.

The Dodgers advanced to second place in the National league, passing the idle Cardinals, who were rained out along with the Giants, Phillies and Pirates.

The Dodgers still are 4½ games behind the pace-setting Boston Braves, who scored two runs in the eighth inning of a night game to beat Cincinnati, 6 to 4, and snap a four-game losing streak. A triple by Earl Torgeson knocked in the two deciding runs.

FAIR OR FOUL

by LAWTON CARVER

International News Service

NEW YORK—(INS)—It's the man who pays and pays and pays . . . because our girls have performed in the Olympics track and field events as though they had a hard day over a tub, the American male gets the blame—3,000 miles away.

Mrs. Catherine D. Meyer, of Maplewood, N. J., coach of the U.S. women's squad points to several reasons for the miserable showing at London and adds:

"We women depend on support from our American men, but they never become conscious of us until right before the Olympics. Then they expect us to win."

Mrs. Meyer told International News Service in London that there are several things wrong with our showing, but one of the main reasons is that we have no competition in America for women except in Olympic years.

That puts us at a disadvantage against the Europeans who have all kinds of competition in which to develop women athletes.

Our coach is right, but what would be wrong with my idea of cutting women's track and field off the Olympic schedule as an extraneous, unpretty and irrelevent hodge-podge that proves nothing.

There is nothing vitally important to be found in whether one woman can throw a shot or a javelin farther than another or whether one can jump higher than the next.

The man don't prove anything by it either, but, at least, they look natural in their shorts stomping around, flexing their muscles and sweating and falling all over the place.

What most males want to know is can a woman whip up a beefstew.

Mrs. Meyer blames part of our difficulties in track events on the draw at London. She says we happened to fall into bad spots to be eliminated through misfortune, more than anything else.

However, we are pretty bad in the field events with a grand total of three points for a fourth in the javelin.

As to this, Mrs. Meyer said:

"As a rule American girls simply don't excel in field events and we did not expect to come up to European standards.

"Part of our trouble is due to the American male track authorities (who do not provide women's competition) and part of it is due to the fact that other girls are better than our home-breds."

If the American male track authorities pay any heed to Mrs. Meyer they may suddenly start promoting events for women, which would be a sad mistake.

Simmons Takes Decathlon Lead With Hurdles Victory

By LEO H. PETERSEN

LONDON—(UP)—Floyd M. Simmons of the Los Angeles Athletic club took the individual lead in the Olympic decathlon today when he won his heat in the 110-meter hurdles, boosting his unofficial point score to 4,739 for six of the competition's 10 events.

Simmons was in third place with 3,843 points after completion of five events yesterday.

I. Heinrich of France, who also won his 110-meter hurdles heat, was second with 4,713 points and Bob Mathias, of Tulare, Cal., who won the seventh heat, was third in the unofficial standings with 4,666 points.

In the swimming competition where the United States planned to make its best showing today, Ann Curtis of the University of California, her teammate, Brenda Hesler of Los Angeles and Nancy Lees of Portland, Ore., qualified for the women's 400-meter freestyle finals.

In men's swimming, Jimmy McClane of Akron, O., won his way into the 1500-meter freestyle finals with a second heat victory over Gyoergy Csordaas of Hungary and Forbes Norris of Harvard The Akron swimmer, time in 19 52 2, won by 15 meters.

Wimmons went to the top in the individual decathlon standings by picking up 896 points out of a possible 1,000 in the 110-meter hurdles, first of the final five decathlon events which will be contested today at Empire stadium He was timed in 15 2 seconds against the perfect standard of 14 Irv Mondschein of New York got away badly in his heat and only a final burst of speed gave him second place and 698 points.

The splash and speed stars of the U S swimming team seemed certain to win two more gold medals in the Olympics today but American hopes were not so high in track and field.

Yesterday was the first day, except opening day, that U. S runners and jumpers failed to take a first place in track and it looked like the slump would carry over into its second day

The Yanks' best chance to get back into winning form was in the historic decathlon competition where U. S representatives held third, fourth and fifth places at the halfway mark in the 10 events The Americans had a lone representative, Don Gehrmann of Wisconsin, in the finals of the 1,500 meter run and only Audrey Patterson of Nashville, Tenn., in the women's 200 meter dash

So it looked like it would be up to the decathlon men—17-year-old Bob Mathias of Tulare, Cal., Irving (Moon) Mondschein of New York university, and Floyd Simmons of the Los Angeles—to get the U S back into the win column.

Hegan's Two Homers Aid Indian Win

CLEVELAND — (INS) — They say that it takes all nine men to win a ball game, but Pitcher Gene Bearden and Catcher Jim Hegan have mighty good arguments to the contrary.

With the help of two home runs by Hegan and one by Bearden, the only three hits the Cleveland Indians tallied off Rae Scarborough and Tom Ferrick, the Tribe downed the Washington Nats, 3-0, yesterday at lakefront stadium.

SIX HITS

Bearden limited the Nats to six hits, two in the first six innings, as he kept the Redskins on top of the American league standings They now are two percentage points ahead of the Philadelphia Athletics

Hegan recorded the first hit and the first run of the contest by smashing his 10th four-bagger of the year far over the left center field fence in the third inning

Then Bearden, who won his ninth victory against only three defeats, stepped to the plate and hit one on top of the Indians' dugout in right center field to give the Tribe a 2-0 lead

Those two blows were the only safeties the Tribe got off Scarborough for the seven innings he pitched. He was taken out in the eighth for a pinch hitter and Tom Ferrick, who served another home run ball to Hegan in the eighth, was his replacement

Aside from the two homers, Scarborough didn't permit a Tribesman to reach second base He walked two and fanned three

BRILLIANT INFIELD

Although he kept the Nats' hits well-scattered, Bearden was helped out of several spots by brilliant infield play The Indians made six double plays, each in a different way, and fell one short of the American league record

One of the twin killings, which thwarted an attempt to score in the seventh, cost the services of Manager Lou Boudreau

Gil Coan opened the inning and was hit by a pitched ball Tom McBride then tapped a bounder to Bearden, who wheeled and threw in the dirt to Boudreau. The manager-shortstop made a dive for the ball and tagged Coan out, but was injured when the two collided.

PINCH HITTER

Although he was badly shaken, he finished the inning and then sent Johnny Berardino up to bat for him. Boudreau suffered bruises of the right shoulder, a slightly sprained ankle and a bruised knee He may be sidelined when the Indians open a four-game series with the New York Yankees tonight at the stadium.

The 13,967 paid admissions at yesterday's finale with the Nats brought the attendance total this season to 1,530,224, breaking the record of 1,521,978 set last year The Indians have 22 more playing dates at home

Boudreau has chosen Bob Feller, who has been beaten four times by the Yanks this year, as his pitching choice for tonight's series opener. His probable opponent will be Ed Lopat, a perennial Tribe jinx.

Tennessee Voters End 'Boss' Crump's Twenty-Year Reign

2 'Machine' Candidates Face Defeat

Long Victory String Broken

NASHVILLE, Tenn. —(U.P.)— Ed Crump's 20-year reign as king pin of Tennessee politics appeared at an end today as near-complete returns from yesterday's primary election gave his political foes commanding leads in the races for governor and U. S. senator.

Crump's own candidates were taking bad beatings. They were behind almost everywhere in the state except in Shelby county (Memphis, the white-haired leader's home stronghold, and their margins there were not going to be enough to overcome early deficits.

Rep. Estes Kefauver and former Gov. Gordon Browning, the men Crump fought most bitterly in an all-out campaign, held wide leads for senator and governor respectively.

With 1,922 precincts out of 2,250 reporting, Kefauver had 141,016 votes. Incumbent Sen. Tom Stewart totalled 114,051, and Judge John Mitchell, Crump's choice for the Senate, was a poor third with 77,080.

In the governor's race, 1,922 precincts gave Browning 199,906 votes to 153,184 for Crump-supported incumbent Gov. Jim McCord.

LEAD IN SHELBY COUNTY

The Shelby county vote, where Mitchell and McCord held their only strong leads, was near complete with 109 of 126 precincts reporting. Political observers believed the remaining precincts were not enough to provide victory for either of them.

Kefauver and Browning had apparently cinched the Democratic nominations. There are no runoff elections in Tennessee, and the highest man in the first balloting gets the nomination.

It was the first time since 1928, when Crump supported Al Smith for president, that the famed political boss had been on the losing side of any race. And it was the first time since 1926 that he backed the wrong candidate in a state election.

That year he supported Hill McAllister for governor but Austin Peay won his third straight term. Since those defeats, Crump's candidates have been victorious in some 100 races.

Daniels Says 'Not Guilty'

with competent authority. We do intend to take up the matter and impressions of him with a psychiatrist.

In closing the hearing on Daniels, Judge Kalbfleisch said: "I have observed this man on two occasions and I see no indication that this man is mentally incapable of going to trial in this case. Consequently, the case will be duly processed by selection of a jury and those steps that are necessary in the matter of evidence."

Daniels previously entered a plea of guilty at a preliminary hearing in municipal court last Friday. He did not have an attorney at that time. Municipal court then ordered him bound over to the grand jury, which indicted him Monday.

PICK JURY TUESDAY

Drawing of a special jury venire of 75 persons from whom the trial jury will be picked, was set for Tuesday at 2 p. m. by Judge Kalbfleisch. Law requires that the copy of the venire be served on the defendant 15 days after the prospective jurors have been picked and notices served by the sheriff's office.

In the event that the trial jury should find Daniels "not guilty by reason of insanity", then he would be committed to the Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, according to Ohio statute.

Daniels appeared "self-conscious" and cast occasional glances at the audience. The courtroom was overflowing, many persons standing, while others tried to peer into the courtroom at the doors and windows. At least 200 persons were there.

As early as 8:45 a. m., persons were seated in the courtroom, including several mothers with their small children. Spectators remained orderly throughout the proceeding.

Mother of Six On Probation

A young Shelby mother of six children was put on six months' probation in Richland county juvenile court today and ordered to stay home and keep house for her youngsters.

Judge Stuart H. Cramer said the mother, Mrs. Ella Mae Smith of Shelby, was charged with frequently absenting herself from the home, leaving her children without proper supervision and discipline.

INJURED BY MUSKET

YOUNGSTOWN —(AP)— James Kay, 42, of New York, remained in a serious condition with a gun wound in the face, inflicted when an old type musket went off unexpectedly.

Parolee, 19, Admits Brutal Murder of 17-Year-Old Youth

BOLTON, Mass.—(U.P.)—A teenaged Concord reformatory parolee allegedly confessed at Providence, R. I., today that he shot and hacked a Bolton farm boy to death and tried to shoot the victim's employer, an Episcopal bishop who once befriended him.

Frederick S. Pike, 19, of Charleston was captured at gunpoint in Providence last night following an automobile chase.

Police said he admitted using a shotgun and axe to slay Paul Zayka, 17, at the Bolton "Christmas Farm" of the Rt. Rev. Raymond A. Heron, 71-year-old Episcopal bishop of Massachusetts.

Zayka, who went to live with the bishop three years ago when his own family moved to Boston, apparently surprised Pike ransacking the farmhouse last night when the clergyman was out shopping, police said.

"I shot the boy twice, then hit him with an axe and dragged his body down into the cellar," Providence police quoted Pike.

"I waited about two hours for the bishop to return. When he came in I pointed two guns at him and the bishop started to run. I fired at him and the bishop stopped. I told him I wanted his money and he put about $25 on the table. I took it and left the house.

"I got into the bishop's car and headed for Providence."

Bishop Heron said he walked into his kitchen to find Pike pointing two revolvers at him.

"What are you doing here?" he asked. "Where's Paul?"

"Down cellar—dead," the bishop quoted the parolee. "Hand over your wallet. One more killing won't make any difference."

Pike was paroled Jan. 29 after serving 18 months of a five year sentence for a 1946 burglary at the bishop's home where he once was a chore boy.

Thousands Visit Park Playgrounds

City Recreation Program Popular

By EILEEN DEWHURST

Mansfield's city parks are busy places this summer. The number of Mansfielders taking advantage of the playground programs sponsored by the city recreation department grows daily.

Last year 1,336 registered for the summer programs. This year the number has increased to 1,428, according to Stanley Kamen, city recreation director.

But these figures are only a small percentage of the total attendance at the parks. Last year the total figure was more than 30,000. This year it has already topped 28,000, and the season will not be over until Aug. 20.

If figures alone don't give an idea of the important part the parks are playing in the city's recreation program, the number of activities offered should. Sports at the park playgrounds include baseball, softball, volleyball, horseshoe pitching, boxing, tennis, and archery. For those who prefer less strenuous activity there are croquet and shuffleboard.

Contests of all kinds, handicraft, hikes and picnics, and story telling round out the summer programs. This year for the first time the bookmobile of the Mansfield Public library made visits to Maple Lake, John Todd and Prospect parks.

Young Mansfielders are not the only ones who are enjoying the facilities at the parks. In the evenings, 8,960 adults have already participated in 320 league softball games. Another 1,400 have played 50 practice games. The adult games are played at John Todd, North Lake, Prospect, Johns and Liberty parks.

Mansfield's hot weather has made the swimming pools at North Lake and Liberty parks popular places this summer. Thousands have enjoyed cool swims. Others are using the pools for classrooms in the "learn to swim" programs.

Churches, clubs and other organizations find the parks just the place for that picnic they've planned. They're close to the residential districts, but sufficiently removed from the hustle and bustle of city life.

Plymouth Police Chief Resigns Under Fire From Mayor

New Officer Is Sought By Village

Hulbert Cites 'Ill Health'

By a Staff Correspondent

PLYMOUTH—Tired of bickering with the village council, Police Chief Clay Hulbert has resigned from the Plymouth force.

The chief, under fire from Mayor Carrol Robinson for alleged failure to enforce gambling laws in town, tendered his resignation Tuesday night at the village council session.

Council accepted his resignation, effective Aug. 14.

Chief of the Plymouth police department for more than four-and-a-half years, Hulbert said he was quitting because of "ill health." He is 67 years old.

NO FUTURE PLANS

The chief said today that he was "tired of bickering with the council" and just decided to take it easy for awhile. He added that he had made no future plans.

Meanwhile, Plymouth will go shopping for a new police chief. Guy Cunningham, village clerk, said that applications for the job will be taken until Monday, Aug. 16.

One of the requirements of the position, Cunningham said, is that the new chief must own an automobile. He added that candidates should disclose the salary they desire in their communications with the village about filling the position.

Council designated Cunningham to collect information on applicants and to gather data on all candidates.

'BEST' IN OHIO—New London's home-built, home-owned fire engine is one of most modern in Ohio.

Town Builds Fire Engine

New London Adds Truck

By HENRY PARNELL
(N-J State Correspondent)

NEW LONDON — Bearing the stamp "Made In New London," this village can boast one of the finest small town pieces of fire fighting equipment in the area—fully equipped and ready for immediate call anywhere in the village and community.

Need for the new fire fighting equipment was felt several years ago, but it is only within the past eighteen months that action was started.

Through the efforts of former Mayor Wilmer E. White, a new heavy duty chassis was procured, two pumps intended for civilian defense work but never used, were bought, equipment and supplies purchased and the whole disassembled equipment turned over to the Ohio Body company here for building.

BUILD BODY

The steel body was cut, fitted and built right on the chassis, an 800-gallon "booster tank" with all necessary baffle plates inside, all accessories, pumps, ladder hooks, chemical tanks, racks for 1,200 feet of hose, chrome rails, ample space for nozzles, lanterns, grapple hooks and all other equipment necessary, besides plenty of room for the fireladdies to ride, were incorporated in the building of the new truck. The entire truck was then painted a pure white, with gold lettering.

"Old Betsy," the 23-year-old "Regal" pumper, is far from being inactive, enjoying a well earned rest and, at the same time, receiving a thorough overhauling and repairing in preparation for further duty.

The New London department is wholly volunteer. Albert Walters is chief, Ira Sutherland, assistant chief, and there are thirteen men available as crewmen.

Larry Leapley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Leapley of Galion is recovering at his home, here. He shows no signs of paralysis after being treated at Children's hospital for polio.

Loudonville Hedges On Pinball Tax

Council Reverses Earlier Decision

(By Staff Correspondent)

LOUDONVILLE—The Loudonville village council has "hedged" on its proposed juke box and pinball machine tax.

In an attempt to rectify what some councilmen believe were "unfair provisions," council lowered the tax on juke boxes from $20 to $10 on pinball machines and dropped the juke box tax from $15 to $5.

Immediately after its final passage this week, the council passed a motion to reconsider the proposal. The council then decided not to take action on the taxes until a later meeting.

Council agreed to hold a special session Monday to present a plan for the establishment of grade levels on North Market street. Plans have been drawn by Shelby Edwards, Ashland engineer.

Property owners along the Campbell and London avenue sections of North Market street have been invited to attend Monday's meeting.

Deadline For Filing Claims Near

Next Monday is the last day for filing claims for lump-sum death benefits under the Social Security act, Edward P. Blonston, manager of the Mansfield office of the Social Security administration, announced today.

The benefits will be paid to the survivors of civilians and servicemen wage earners who died outside the United States after Dec. 6, 1941, and before Aug. 10, 1946.

Blonston pointed out that Congress amended the Social Security Act in August, 1946, extending the legal limit for filing claims. However, the extension was for two years from the date of amendment and expires on Aug. 9.

Ashland Socks 'Big Time' Gambling With $750 Fine

(By Staff Correspondent)

ASHLAND—There is every indication today that the gambling trade here has been taken to the "cleaners."

Ashland county's first brush with "big-time" gambling interests ended yesterday in what appears to be a decisive triumph for the law enforcement body here.

Bartley Bowers, who listed his address as Mansfield, was fined $750 yesterday in Ashland county Common Pleas court when he pleaded guilty to four counts of permitting gambling at an area club.

Bowers' appearance in court provided a surprise climax to developments in the case ever since he was indicted by the grand jury, July 8. He had been released under $2,000 bond, pending trial Sept. 8.

CHANGES PLEA

Owner-operator of the Sky-Hi Club, located six miles east of here on Route 250, Bowers had previously entered a plea of "not guilty."

Untroubled by gambling violations in the past, Ashland county authorities showed a great deal of interest in the outcome of the trial. One official said the investigation and resulting trial "clearly indicated that Ashland will spare no effort to rid the community of gambling."

The Sky-Hi club became prominent as a rendezvous for gambling patrons from neighboring county residents and many from Cleveland before the local raid.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE SIX — MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, AUGUST 6, 1948

An occasional feel of chill in the air serves to remind that it's time for a furnace checkup.

After all, a small apartment doesn't seem to be just the place for a tenant to insist on keeping a dog—to the annoyance of other tenants.

Promise of "a full dinnerpail" served nicely in McKinley's 1896 campaign—and now may it be hoped there'll be a few leftovers for those who do not carry a dinnerpail?

Mansfielders Cut Meat Purchases

ACCORDING to yesterday's reports from a number of local meat dealers, many Mansfielders have adopted the sensible practice of reducing their meat purchases to a noticeable extent—not only because of high prices but also in order to allow others to obtain a fair share of the short supply.

Appearance of a plentiful supply of meat in some markets is likely to be deceiving, as the overall picture presents a shortage of cattle and hogs which will probably not be overcome within a year and a half, or possibly two years—even with the favorable crop reports now coming in.

As the Chicago Journal of Commerce points out: "Greater production is the only long-term cure for towering meat prices. And not all the controls in the world can make a single pound of meat."

The American Meat Institute expresses belief that meat supplies this fall and winter will be at the rate of about 150 pounds a year per person—about 10 per cent greater than at present, and adds that a small increase in meat output is expected in 1949, with more substantial gains in the early '50s.

For the present, therefore, if "equality of opportunity" is to prevail among meat-eating Americans, there will be need for sacrifices by those who feel that they can "afford" to buy whatever they like, regardless of price, so that other less fortunate persons can have enough meat to maintain the health of their families—with special thought for the children. Suggestion is that meat purchases be restricted to a minimum of needs, regardless of ability to buy, and that housewives devote study to use of meat substitutes in preparing one or two of the family's daily meals.

Parents Unintentionally Punished

POSSIBLY no mention of Robert Murl Daniels, now in Richland county jail awaiting trial for murder, was more deeply impressive than the item that told of his parents coming here from Columbus and visiting him in the jail.

That is a phase of criminality which few youths seem to take into account as they pursue a course that so often brings grief and shame to their parents and other members of their family.

A similar incident is reported from Detroit, where a 20-year-old youth is under sentence of from five to 15 years in prison for armed robbery.

His grief-stricken mother was too ill to visit him in jail. He was taken to the hospital where she was near death. Her last glimpse of her son was as he was being led away, manacled to a deputy sheriff. The next day she died.

Another Thing That Needs Explaining

SQUE-E-E-E-K! Sque-e-e-e-k! It's a familiar sound to parents who take their children to North Lake park to enjoy the swings, and to picnickers who must listen to the shrill screech while they eat. With a caretaker on hand at the park and a city parks superintendent to supervise the caretaker, it seems odd that public attention should have to be called to so obvious a task as keeping playground equipment in good condition. Yet such is the case.

At the same park, baseboards on one merry-go-round have been broken for weeks. On another, one of the seats became wobbly and was at last removed but had not been replaced after 10 days.

Such negligence reflects almost as sharply on the general administration of city business as foot-deep chuckholes on one street and a loose manhole cover reported to the service director once, and a second time after a three-week wait, with a total of five weeks elapsing and still nothing done.

'Met' Opera Directors Call It Off

NOT SO MUCH because of its own importance—which is considerable—but in its revelation of an apparent "trend of the times," announcement of cancellation of Metropolitan Opera plans for next season is attracting much public notice.

It is a matter of common knowledge that "the Met," as it is popularly known, is not a self-sustaining enterprise and that deficits must be made up by contributions from persons interested in keeping it going.

Stated reason for calling off the 1948-49 season, after recording a deficit of $220,000 last year, is failure to reach an agreement with musicians' unions, which demanded a 20 per cent pay raise for the opera's orchestra, plus establishment of unemployment insurance and old age benefits.

If the theory is to be sustained that wage increases presuppose ability to continue profitable operation, then the necessity of operating at a loss must also be taken into account, a phase of the situation which seems to have been overlooked by those who are dictating the policies of union musicians required for continuance of Metropolitan Opera programs. There is an old warning, remember, about "killing the goose that lays the golden eggs."

That item passing around to the effect that "there are enough motor cars in the United States for the entire population to ride at one time" neglects to mention where the cars are to be parked when the occupants reach the picnic grounds.

A Quebec parent of a half dozen children of various ages volunteers the information that there isn't any age at which children are "the least trouble."

Claude Callan reveals: "One of our fine sons-in-law is good about visiting us, but the other son-in-law is getting along quite well financially."

What Some Other People Are Saying

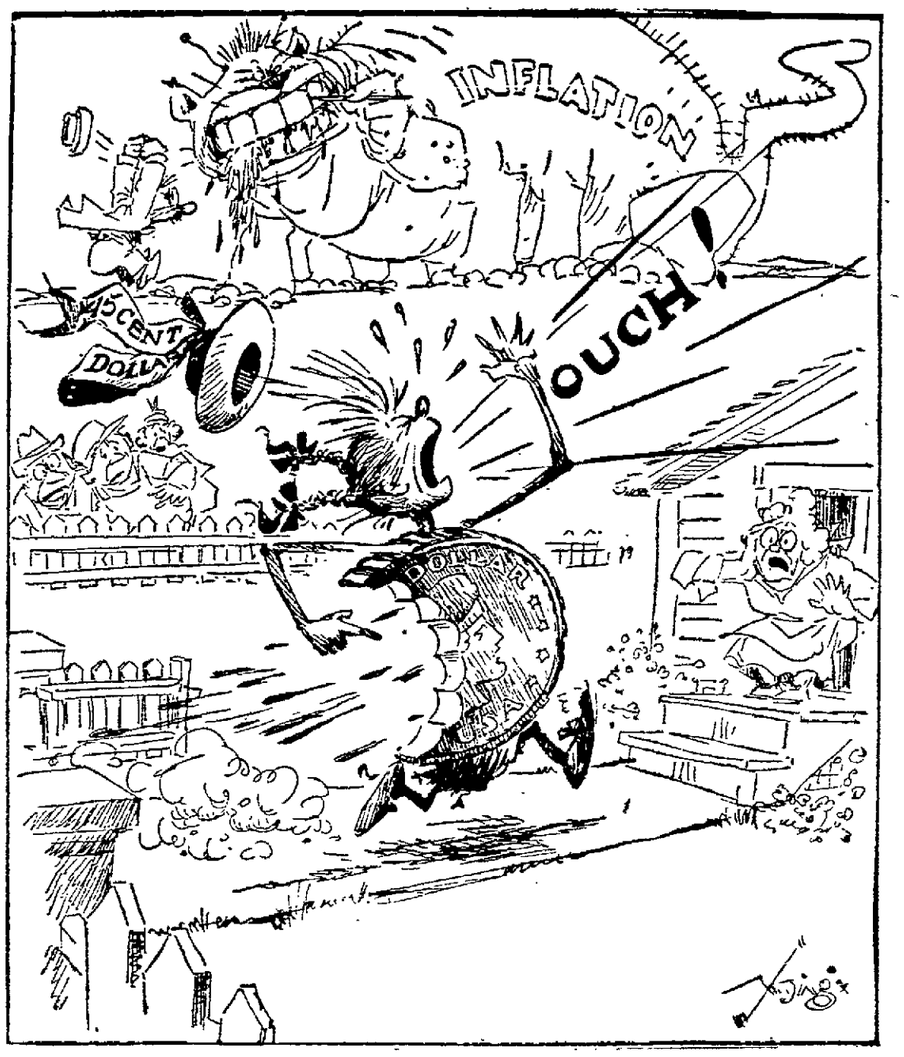
ARCHBISHOP RICHARD J. CUSHING: "Communists are the enemy of the American people, labor, religion and national tradition . . . Some Reds are pink professors. Some are blue bloods. Some are lavender old ladies."

* * *

LAWRENCE MELOY, executive secretary of the government loyalty review board: "The loyalty program is just getting started . . . 574 employes suspected of being disloyal have been dropped."

* * *

JAMES A. FARLEY, former Democratic national chairman: "The discovery of communists and fellow-travelers in government service will have a bad effect on the country, on the administration and on the Democratic party."



Who Said a Little Inflation Wouldn't Hurt Anything?

DeWitt Mackenzie's Column

'United States of Europe' May Evolve

FOR CLOSE to 150 years idealistic statesmen have dreamed of and labored for a United States of Europe, but ironically enough it has taken the frightful menace of communism to start this vision on its way to partial materialization.

That seems like a queer twist of fate, but maybe it's not so strange after all. Atheists turn to prayer in extremities, and men of many minds band together for mutual defense in time of danger.

Anyway, Western Europe has started a swing toward a confederation of democracies which are making concessions in sovereignty for the common welfare.

We have just been given two further notable indications of this trend. Italy's free thinking, outspoken foreign minister, Count Carlo Sforza, stated that in order to effect a European union his country is ready to take the lead in accepting "curtailment of its political sovereignty, even in the most unexpected aspects."

About the same time French Foreign Minister Paul Reynaud said he hoped Britain would come out in full support of a United States of Europe next autumn, after the dominions conference in London.

There is no indication of whether these two statements were coincidental or concerted. It would be interesting to know. In any event, they aim at the same objective.

* * *

Idea Gaining Favor

OF COURSE these pronouncements aren't the first positive developments along this line. There was the sensational formation of the five-nation Western European Union some five months ago, when Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg formed an alliance which was hailed by many observers as giving a decided fillip to the idea of a union for the whole of Western Europe, and received the blessings of the United States.

This Western European combine neatly complemented the union of 16 European countries which had banded together in support of the Marshall Plan. Indeed, time may demonstrate that America's European recovery project provided the nucleus for a United States of Western Europe — and perhaps finally of all Europe in the happy days when communism has had its run and the continent has returned to freedom.

Italy's adherence to the Western bloc so openly is a striking development in view of her powerful communist party which at one time seemed about to deliver her into the hands of Moscow.

Reynaud has some encouragement in expressing hope that Britain will give full support to a United States of Europe. While the British government has been cautious about committing itself in this matter, Prime Minister Attlee has said that he personally favors a federated Europe.

Foreign Secretary Bevin has gone so far as to point out that the Western European Union (which he fathered) is the hard core of Western Europe and that other nations are free to join.

And one cannot stop without recalling that England's famous Winston Churchill long has been going up and down the land, lending his powerful voice to the idea of a United States of Europe.

Frankly Speaking

It's All Quite Confusing

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

WASHINGTON — If my piece today sounds like a soap opry script, in which the dirty-necked communists wreck the career of a fine young man and then ruin his marriage, I can't help it. William W. Remington swore every word was true.

He's the white-lipped young commerce department worker charged by the U. S. Senate with slipping war secrets to a middle-aged female spy, who held trysts with him at my favorite soda fountain at 14th and Pennsylvania avenue.

So the blonde-haired Remington in the ill-fitting summer suit told his tale of passing war production board information over the ice cream sodas to Miss Elizabeth Bentley. He was 24 years old at the time and how he came to meet such a woman was the question.

I squirmed in embarrassment listening to him and I feel a little squirmy even writing down the facts, but it turned out that he married a girl in Croton, N. Y., when he was 21.

Pretty soon one Joseph North, a communist leader, began hanging around his mother-in-law's house. First thing you knew, the old lady herself joined the party.

Soon there were communists all over the neighborhood. Young Remington brought his bride to Washington, where he got his job with the WPB, while she played around with the town's liberals. Patronized a co-operative grocery. Joined a commie book club. Gave contributions to a communist-front refugee outfit. And every time she'd take her groom back to Croton to visit mother, the house would be full of communists.

Sen. Herbert R. O'Conor of Md., interrupted here to ask if any of Remington's relatives today were communists.

"Sir," replied the young man, gritting his teeth between phrases, "if you mean my blood relatives, I say, no. They are all Republicans. But if you mean relatives by marriage, I must say yes.

"But it is not much of a marriage I do not like to discuss it. And they won't be related to me very much longer, sir."

* * *

He Knows Better Now.

ANYHOW, he continued, rubbing his eyes against the movie spotlights, Communist North introduced him to one Jacob Golos, who asked him to give government information to his literary assistant, Miss Bentley. He met her in the drug store, on park benches and once in the art museum, to answer her questions about the inner workings of the WPB. He said he was careful not to give her any real war secrets.

Now that he's 30 years old and more experienced in the way of the world he said he couldn't understand how he allowed himself to get mixed up in such folderol. He did not explain how so callow a youngster as himself ever received a position of trust in the government; the senators did not question him about this. Remington said he just supposed that he was naive, meaning (in my translation) dopey.

He was sorry for what he'd done. Yet he didn't think he'd done his country any real harm.

And if his mother-in-law hadn't been bitten by the communist bug, everything might have been different. He might still even be in love with his wife.

The senators were bitter, they charged him with changing his story time after time, of twisting the facts to suit himself, and of being much too intelligent a man to expect them to believe him. They called his story preposterous and they hinted that if he didn't come clean (their words) he might find himself in serious trouble.

Remington continued calmly to call each one of them, Sir. He kept on insisting that he'd told them the truth. Having listened to him all day and taken a dozen pages of careful notes, I don't know what to think about him. I doubt if anybody, except possibly a fan of the radio's dramas of ruined love, could reach any sound conclusions

Communist Tactics.

The dispute in Dayton between the communist-ridden United Electrical Workers (CIO) and the Univis Lens Co. is no labor trouble in the common meaning.

It has in fact ceased to be a controversy with an employer, in whose plant the UEW has had no standing since it was rejected last month as a bargaining agent in a plant poll of workers sponsored by the NLRB in accordance with the law.

It is a communist demonstration against government.

Ohio's Gov. Herbert, alive to the essential issue, has drawn a "law and order" line of National Guardsmen around the property, to protect the ownership in its rights and the workers in theirs.

He could do no less. The public official who hesitates in the face of such a challenge is monkeying with disaster.—Detroit News.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

High Prices Are Disturbing Congress

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—House Republicans shoved the Democrats off the House floor the other day, locked the doors, and obediently rubber-stamped the decisions of their leaders at a cut-and-dried caucus.

Only a mild protest was raised by one Republican — Minnesota's Walter Judd, who wanted to know whether the leadership had intended to commit the Republicans without holding a conference. He referred to the fact that GOP chiefs had answered President Truman's message without talking it over with members of the party.

Speaker Joe Martin pacified Judd by saying that the statement drafted by the leaders was only a "proposed statement." If it wasn't adopted by the caucus, he promised, a new one would be drafted. Needless to say, it was adopted—unanimously.

Before the rubber-stamp vote, Rep. William Dawson of Utah urged his colleagues not to close the session "without making an honest, conscientious effort to do something about the high cost of living.

"We may not agree with the President on price control and rationing," Dawson declared, "but the people still expect us to do something about high prices."

Martin agreed that the committee should "tackle the problem" and give it more than superficial examination. Even majority leader Charlie Halleck admitted that "we should not be cavaliers and dismiss the session with a polite bow." However, he made it clear that he still favored an "early adjournment." This last remark was greeted with boisterous applause.

Note—Even this was a change of heart for Charlie, who had argued for an immediate adjournment until he was knocked back on his heels by Speaker Martin and Senator Taft.

Cabinet Member Scolded.

FOR calling Congress "irresponsible." Secretary of Agriculture Charlie Brannan was given a stern scolding this week by President of the Senate Arthur Vandenberg.

Even hotter under the collar with resentment, junior statesman Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts pounded the table and tried to jam respect for the 80th Congress down Brannan's throat. But after Republican tempers had cooled, Brannan still hadn't retracted his statement.

Facing his first congressional firing squad since taking office, the young secretary of agriculture met behind closed doors with the Senate foreign relations committee to appeal for ratification of the international wheat agreement, of great importance to farmers.

Instead of taking up wheat, Vandenberg, scowling sternly, ordered Brannan to read an interview which he had granted to the New York Times. In the text, Brannan called Congress "irresponsible" for not ratifying the wheat agreement.

"You had no right to use that sort of word," snorted the big Michigan senator.

Then he pointed to the Senate's bipartisan record on foreign policy, demanded to know how Congress could be called irresponsible after passing the European Recovery Program and the peacetime draft. His own foreign relations committee, Vandenberg insisted, had voted unanimously on all important issues.

* * *

Junior Statesman.

AFTER Vandenberg's stern lecture had run its course, Lodge broke in: "I interpret this charge to have been directed at me!

"Neither the committee nor I should be subject to that kind of charge!" shouted the Boston Back Bay senator, using his fist for a gavel.

Brannan had mentioned Lodge in the interview as chairman of the subcommittee which failed to act on the wheat agreement.

"You can't pass that kind of bill in the limited time available," thundered Lodge, still flushed with anger.

Finally Senator Tom Connally, Texas Democrat, interrupted. "Let's get on the merits of the case and close this political show," he urged.

"I never have dragged politics into this committee," Lodge sputtered back.

Brannan assured the committee that he held it in high esteem, that the teamwork of Vandenberg and Connally had demonstrated the ability of opposing groups in a democracy to work together in the best interests of the people.

However, Brannan recalled that he came into the government at a time when wheat farms were lying uncultivated—not because the land wasn't productive but because the cost of growing wheat was more than the market price.

Therefore, Brannan added, he was "deeply moved" when an opportunity to guaranee wheat farmers a market seemed lost. The wheat agreement would guarantee a world market for U.S. wheat for five years.

Lodge interrupted once to demand whether Brannan still stood on his original statement.

How Jobs Can Be Lost

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — A man doesn't have to be actually disloyal, it seems, to lose a government job as the result of a loyalty investigation.

He can have the wrong kind of next-door neighbors.

Or he can talk too much.

In the event he happens to work for the state department, the Army, the Navy, the counter-intelligence agency, the Atomic Energy Commission or the European Recovery Program, he may not even get any details about why Uncle Sam can't use him in that position anymore.

Most of the foregoing comes from Lawrence V. Meloy, executive secretary of the loyalty review board of the civil service commission, although Mr. Meloy had other things on his mind at the time he gave out with the information.

He was having a somewhat hectic time of it. Called before the Senate investigating committee of Senator Homer Ferguson, the Republican prober from Michigan, Meloy was sort of like the fill-in act between the magician and the trained seals in a vaudeville show.

He and Senator Ferguson just couldn't seem to get along. The senator wanted to know why the loyalty board wasn't checking on these questionable employes faster than it was. Meloy allowed as how it would be, if they had more men and more money with which to do the work.

* * *

Cause For Dismissal.

FERGUSON became irritated. He mentioned that almost everybody in the government seemed to want more money, and besides that wasn't answering his question. How long, he wanted to know, would it take to investigate him, Senator Ferguson, for instance, in case he wanted to get a vital security job with the government.

Well, first you should get the big picture, Mr. Meloy said, spreading figures and charts all over the table. Now, there were two million employes to investigate at the beginning, plus several hundred thousand job-applicants to check, and they had to set up fourteen different regional boards, and the checking points.

Right now, for instance, they only had 2,632 reports from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, whereas the F. B. I. was working on more than 5,000 questionable cases, and if they only had a few more men in the civil service loyalty board set-up.

Ferguson mopped his brow. Finally he seized on a point at random:

"You say that all government employes don't come through the civil service setup for a loyalty check. Why not?"

Well, Meloy said, the Army and Navy and all those other outfits mentioned previously have what is known as "summary dismissal" rights. They can hand a guy the old pink slip without even telling him why they did it, if necessary. Or at least he doesn't have any appeal recourse through the civil service system. And, furthermore, he might not even be disloyal.

"Well, what else would they be firing him for, after such an investigation?" Ferguson wanted to know.

Well, Meloy replied, it might be because he was keeping the wrong kind of company, or it might be that his wife was. Or the neighbors who kept dropping in might be bad security risks.

"Or, the investigators might just say, 'he talks too much. We're afraid he might let out some vital security information.' And they'd let him go for that reason," Meloy said.

"You mean a man can be fired just for talking too much?" Ferguson asked speculatively. That's right, replied the witness:

"Hmmm," said the senator, staring at Meloy.

"Hmmph," snorted Meloy, glaring back at the senator.

Dave Boone Says:

JUDGING from the testimony of spy activities there is certainly no iron curtain in Washington. It appears to be strictly a lace curtain full of holes and up most of the time.

* * *

So much stuff was dished out to Red Agents, according to the testimony, that the Pentagon resembled a Russian restaurant.

* * *

Some of the testimony is far from strong enough to convict anybody, but it certainly seems that Uncle Sam has been giving a demonstration of slow motion in getting at the facts, plugging up the leaks and giving the old heave ho to plotters and to those gullible federal officials who made life so easy for them.

* * *

"Keep to the left" seems to have been almost the theme in some bureaus . . . It looks like all the Pentagon building needed as a checkroom for hammers and sickles.

One Man's Opinion

SEVERAL Massachusetts communities are refraining from eating meat this week . . . they have no apologies for the long delay.

The department of agriculture is of the opinion that meat prices are high because enough people are willing to pay them. . . . This is a horrible thought with a ring of truth.

Farmer's Diary

Reads While Waiting

By CALVIN A. BYERS

"I KEEP some books in my car," said my well-read, rotund friend, with a twinkle, "to read while I wait on Maymie. It's all the college education I've ever had time for."

This man is an absentee farmer. He reads everything he can find about new farming methods, and he hires a good practical farmer to carry out his ideas. His travels take him over several counties, and he meets and talks with farm leaders wherever he goes. It gives him a handle, he says, for selling, too. He is a traveling salesman for a steel works.

His Bible is part of his equipment, and the Sunday school lesson comments. I saw a Boy Scout handbook in his car and also a book about how to repair an automobile.

Pretty soon Maymie, his vivacious wife, came back from the beauty shop, and he looked at his watch. "Tired waiting?" she asked. Her husband grinned, winking at me. "Not tired," he said, "but I've reached the end of the chapter."

They rode away discussing what he had read. Maymie is college trained—and astute. I wonder if he thought up that reading plan himself. It doesn't really matter.

RIDING our tractor along the lane, the boys saw a brown and white spotted collie chasing a neighbor's sheep. One ewe was bleeding and almost exhausted. Grabbing sticks and stones, the boys chased the dog away, but the ewe stumbled off into the undergrowth, and they could not find her. Another ewe lay dead.

Next day, while I wrote, beneath our maples, I heard faint hoofbeats approach, and the hurt ewe stumbled out of the roadside ditch and came up alongside. Her throat was torn, and she panted heavily.

The boys offered her water and food, but she would not drink nor eat. So they loaded her onto our trailer and took her over to the farm where she belonged. She died within an hour.

Last evening, after appraisal, the owner was reimbursed for his losses from the dog tax fund of the county. But the chances are that his flock will not entirely recover from the fright and shock for a long time, if ever. Fortunately, lambing time is over, or the damage might have been much worse.

Walter Lippmann Speaks

Kremlin Conference Revives Diplomacy

The conference which took place last Monday evening in the Kremlin restored, at least temporarily, the diplomatic intercourse which has for all practical purposes been suspended for something like two years.

For the debates in the council of foreign ministers and at the United Nations have, as a British writer put it recently, been nothing but public disagreements publicly arrived at. The net effect of these debates has been to make the problems dealt with insoluble. For after the governments had proclaimed their positions, they could not modify them.

The problems which divide the world will remain insoluble if, as diplomatic intercourse is resumed, the same old cracked phonograph records are played over again. The question, therefore, is whether the four powers are willing to make a fresh approach to the problem of a European settlement.

Though it would be expecting much too much to suppose that they can be ready to make a fresh approach, it is not altogether unreasonable to hope that the experience of the past two years may have shown that the old lines of policy lead only to deadlock and frustration. Surely it is clear that the Yalta-Potsdam conception of a continuing collaboration in the direction of Germany and eastern Europe is unworkable.

But surely it is becoming equally clear that the division of Europe and Germany is also unworkable. For neither the Soviets nor the western powers have been able to achieve a stable and durable organization in the two halves of Europe. Both have tried. There is no prospect that either will succeed.

When Moscow forbade eastern Europe to participate in the Marshall plan, it made a commitment which it is manifestly unable to carry out. The Soviet Union is unable to furnish the eastern countries with the capital equipment and manufactured goods which their programs of reconstruction call for. Eastern Europe is buying much more from the west than it is able to sell—nearly twice as much.

DESIRE CONTACT

The eastern countries do not conceal their desire to deal with the west. The alternative is a failure to raise their extremely low standard of life and the indefinite postponement of their plans for reconstruction and development.

At the same time the military position of the Soviet Union in eastern Europe is not improving. The Tito rebellion, the conditions in Czechoslovakia, in Poland, in Hungary, and in Finland do not permit the Soviet general staff to rely upon the satellite armies.

But the western powers have also been unable to organize that part of Europe. The recovery program, the western union, and the London agreements for a German state, are all of them far from achieving what was promised and expected of them.

If we have learned that we cannot collaborate in the management of Europe and that we cannot divide Europe and manage the separate parts, does it not follow that we must negotiate on a radically different basis?

What can that new basis be except to recognize that our objective is no longer to govern Europe from Moscow, Washington and London, but to work out the conditions under which the attempt of the non-European powers to govern Europe can safely be liquidated?

We shall have to see whether we can agree to a gradual and regulated withdrawal which restores to the European nations the sovereignty of Europe.

This cannot be done quickly, nor should it be proposed, except as a grand objective, until the measures have been thoroughly prepared and discussed at length in confidential diplomatic intercourse.

But if by a modus vivendi in Berlinthetension can be relaxed, we shall then do well to make haste slowly in the ensuing negotiations.

The Minnesota highway department has ruled illegal the "wolf-type" whistle horn for jalopies.

Dorothy Kilgallen

Voice of Broadway

Speaking for Myself:

No doubt about it, the upward curve of subway and bus fares certainly has brought a downward curve to New Yorkers' mouths. There have been no major incidents that I know of since the dime became the coin of the hour at the subway turnstiles.

But if locals are taking the fare boost like brave little soldiers, they're also availing themselves of the traditional soldierly privilege of griping. There is plenty of dark mutterings to the effect that the nickel is becoming as obsolete as the buffalo that adorns it, and that nothing costs a nickle any more.

But actually, fellas, things aren't that tough. The nickel is still very much with us. In fact, in a lusty, George Gallup-ing mood recently, I made a small survey to determine what kinds of amusement, if any, a nickel can buy. They are, I find, considerable.

(Of course, the items I am about to mention cost a nickel as I write this. It is still three or four hours till press time, and anything can happen. So I want to make it perfectly clear that all prices listed are subject to change without notice, and don't sue me if they rise behind my back).

At the moment, though, I'm delighted to report that local fire-eaters or visiting firemen can still buy a nickelride on the Staten Island ferry or certain bus lines (like the Madison avenue one) depending upon whether they prefer to sniff sea air or an exotic combination of exhaust fumes and perfume. A nickel still buys a phone conversation, that favorite amusement of most women and many men. Five cents, over the counter, will get you a short glass of orange-type ade, coke, root beer or a punch purported to be made of squeezed passion-fruit. In the less pretentious lunchrooms, it will still get you a cup of coffee. (After all, you don't have to dine at the Colony, you know.)

I'm told that some obscure candy emporia are rash enough to dispense nickel candy for a nickel. And one small five-penny piece can, of this date, be exchanged for one very small dill pickle in certain very, very delicatessens about town.

Five cents still pays for your daily newspaper, except on weekends. You can even read magazines for a nickel, if you have the energy to trot to a back-number store and the patience to wait a month or two before finding out whether the heroine of that continued story ever did escape from the spy who had her locked in an airtight vault. Curb that curiosity, reader. If the poor girl can wait, so can you.

Still in the department of literature, remember that a benevolent outfit called the Public Library will let you keep a book overdue for five days and fine you only a nickel. An air mail stamp costs a nickel, if you're the pen pal type. So does a spool of thread.

So do a rubber hair curler, half a package of bobby pins, two and a half sticks of bubble gum, and the approximate amount of shoe leather consumed in walking through a free museum. And if all other diversion fails, you can always buy a nickel pencil and doodle on scrap paper.

* * *

After much feverish thought, I've finally come up with the perfect (I keep telling myself) solution to New York's temperature problem. I've decided that, instead of air-conditioning places, which provided at best temporary relief from heat and permanent sniffles, we ought to air-condition people.

Think how lovely it would be if you were equipped with portable air-conditioning equipment, so that wherever you were, you'd be able to press an unobtrusive little button and be instantly made deliciously warm—or cool—depending on the temperature outside, your preferences, and whether your batteries were working.

Think what a delight it would be to stroll New York's sizzling sidewalks in mid-August and sneer at the sun, or to slosh through a yard of snow in mid-January feeling as deliciously snug as a bug in a mink rug.

Of course, somebody will have to invent the proper gadget, but why not? Surely a nation with sufficient creative genius to dream up such complicated mechanisms as the atom bomb, the electric dishwasher and Leo Durocher should be able to produce a measly little portable whatsis for making the temperature temperate.

The next step would be to incorporate this whatsis into clothing, but I'm hopeful about the possibilities of this, too. There have been strides in the right direction already. During the war, airmen in insulated suits were able to withstand the rigors of the stratosphere without so much as a gooseb.ump. I understand divers wear insulated suits, too—and what about those natty asbestos jobs sported by fire-fighters?

None of these outfits is exactly flattering to the female form divine, to be sure, since they favor the Omar - the - Tentmaker or Frankenstein's Monster silhouette. But I'll bet if Hattie Carnegie and Charles James put their pretty heads together and really tried, they could come up with a garment sturdy enough to hold a concealed midget air-conditioning unit and still flattering enough to keep Rose, Gypsy Lee, from being mistaken for Rose, Broadway.

Horoscope

For Saturday, August 7
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

While there may be exceptional inclination to plunge into certain unusual or intriguing situations or enterprises, as the mentality, feelings, emotions and aspirations are under high stimuli, there also is probability of erroneous judgments, with loss and failure in the last analysis. The imagination is vivid, the emotions dominant, and an urge to excess, extravagance and taking long chances could culminate in regret, crashes, curious adventure or complications. This in business, romance and domestic affiliations.

Those whose birthday it is, may find themselves in a rather critical predicament, with the mind and impulses keyed to exceptional adventure and experiences, and as well with inclinations to splurge, to extravagance and prodigality. Thus submitting even fair prospects to mistakes of judgment, peculiar hunches, or indulgences, not lucrative or desirable. Acute reactions may be felt in domestic or romantic ties.

A child born on this day has exceptional mentality and feelings, with possible unique talents or urges—more spectacular than profitable.
